Chris D'Urso performed at his professional concert as a 16-year-old in 1978 in Brooklyn, NY. Since that time he has had extensive live performance experience in the New York City and Florida areas. Along with being tuned into Jazz, Fusion, Progressive Rock, Rock, Funk, R&B and "World Music," he committed to formal training both in bass performance and musical theory and structure. He studied with studio session bassists Jeff Philips and Frank DiAngelo in New York City. D'Urso also attended the Brooklyn Conservatory of Music as a Musical Theory Major. While completing college studies, Chris played the night club scene with several acts, most notably with the very successful group, "Off-The-Cuff," a 1980s specialized band.

While playing in numerous live acts during the late eighties and nineties including work in the Kenny B Big Band Orchestra, Chris was also a member of the New York Connection, a corporate and event orchestra that "played it all" including weddings, Country Clubs, Government and Corporate Sponsored Events. Chris rounded out his musical experiences in New York City as a Member of the Brooklyn Academy of Arts Ryan Repertory Company and as a Member of the Harry Warren Theater Orchestra. As house bassist he performed in numerous original and popular off Broadway and off-off-Broadway theatrical productions.
